Tax Collections In County Past Week $30,580

Mrs. Doyle Nelson, county assessor-collector, announces that in the week she has been in office a total of $30,580.06 in taxes has been collected. This includes $27,756.98 in current tax; $2,198.33 sales tax, and $624.75 poll taxes.

The poll tax collection represents 133 exemptions which have been issued and 357 poll tax receipts issued. The total number of polls issued since October 1, 1956 is 2,425.

Mrs. Nelson states that citizens have all of January to get their poll tax receipts entitling them to vote in all elections this year.

However, a city election will take place in April, at which time every voter must have a City and a County poll tax receipt or exemption, to vote. Since the polls have been coming in rather slow, Mrs. Nelson urges the citizenship to come in as soon as possible and avoid a last minute rush, before the January 31 deadline.

At the present time a sub-station has been opened at Plano to aid taxpayers in that area. Others may be set up in the county later, but nothing definite has been announced as yet.

Two Burglaries In County Tuesday Night

Sheriff Floyd Williams and his deputies are investigating two robberies which occurred in the county Tuesday night.

A quantity of merchandise was reported stolen from the Nathan White Department Store in Wylie, which included mostly men's pants, clothing, blankets, and other items. Nathan White, owner of the store, reports an exact estimate of the merchandise stolen has not been made but will amount to several hundred dollars. The back door of the store was broken open to gain entrance.

A quantity of tools, value of which has not yet been determined, were stolen from Cannaday & Waddle Farm Machinery place of business on Highway 289, two and a half miles south of Frisco. J. B. Cannaday and C. H. Waddle, owners of the building, state that the lock on the back door of the building was broken open. The burglary was discovered at 5 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Deputies Vaughn and Mahan report finding an overturned car on Farm Road 1378 near the McKinney Country Club at 12:45 a.m. today. The car was taken to a local garage where damage was estimated at $700.

Reference Book Lists Businesses In Collin County

"The number of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers in Collin County in the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book now stands at 751" according to George A. Giese Regional Vice President at Dallas for the credit reporting agency. Giese adds "This compares with 728 a year ago."

In McKinney, business listings now total 321, Giese adds, the present figure compared with 306 at the end of 1951. The Reference Book contains more than 2.6 million business listing for 57,000 communities in the U. S.. It is published every sixty days to keep listings current. During the past 60 days, nearly 63,000 new names were added and nearly 60,000 names were removed. Credit ratings were changed during this period on more than 105,000 business concerns.

As one phase in revising credit ratings and keeping them up-to-date, every year the credit reporting agency writes to all business who are listed in the Reference Book to request their year-end balance sheets. Giese says that this letter speeds up the flow and processing of some of the facts on which credit ratings are based. "More than 95 per cent of all commercial transactions in the U. S. are made on credit terms" he added. "The purpose of the Reference Book is to help business men in any part of the country make credit decisions to shop or sell to business men in any other part of the country."

The credit rating is one of the key factors in approving orders to ship or sell. The rating consists of two symbols. The first, a letter of the alphabet, indicates financial strength or tangible net worth of the business. The second symbol is a number. It reflects a composite appraisal of the back-ground, operations, financial stability, and payment record.

Each Reference Book listing (which includes the rating) is a condensed summary of the information contained in the Dun & Bradstreet credit report. The report includes a history of the business (who ownes it, who runs it, and how long it has been operating), a description of what the business does and how it does it, a financial section (which usually includes the latest financial statement) and a record of how the concern pays its bills.

While credit reports are primarily used by businessmen who want to evaluate the credit risk before shipping or selling, insurance underwriters also use credit reports to review risks, rates, and coverage for fire and other types of insurance.

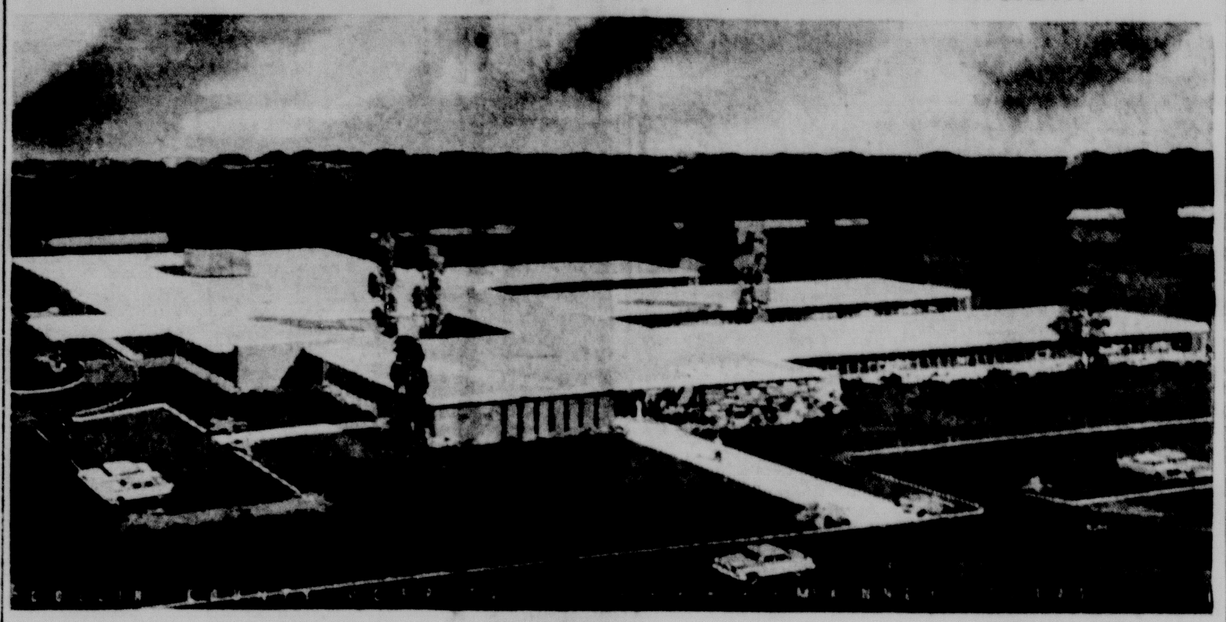
GROUND-BREAKING FOR NEW COUNTY HOSPITAL HELD SATURDAY



Ground-Breaking Ceremonies For New Hospital Are Held

By FRED DICKINSON

Ground breaking ceremonies for Collin County's new million and a half dollar hospital were held, Saturday morning, with a fine representation of more than one hundred present despite a drizzling rain.

County Judge W. E. Button, W. S. Nichols, administrator of the City-County Hospital, and Rev. Joel Ortendahl, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist Church and head of the Ministerial Association of McKinney, jointly turned the first spadeful of black dirt for the project.

The brief ceremony interrupted the work of an earth moving machine of the Busboom & Rauh contracting firm of Dallas, contractors for the enormously important project. The operator had already commenced work earlier in the morning and as soon as the ceremony was over, he resumed work at a fast pace.

Judge Button was the principal speaker at the ground breaking at the hospital location in the extreme northwestern section of McKinney. He was introduced by Administrator Nichols who opened the program. Invocation was given by Rev. H. C. Hoy, pastor of the First Methodist Church.

Russell Headrick of the Wyatt C. Headrick, Architects, firm, at Dallas, also spoke. Mr. Headrick is his firm's project superintendent for the hospital job.

The benediction was given by Rev. Ortendahl.

The hospital is being built on a splendidly located acreage bounded on the east by North Waddill St., on the north by West Highway 24, on the south by Harroun Avenue and on the west by the Old Celina Road. The new hospital building will face south onto Harroun Avenue.

Judge Button paid special tribute to the doctors and nurses of the county during his talk. A number of the county's physicians and surgeons and a delegation of local nurses were present for the occasion. He also paid tribute to the press and radio of the county for their work and to the County Commissioners' Court as well as previous City-County Hospital boards and their Building and Steering Committees who worked so diligently to get this enormous project underway.

He also praised Ross Garrett, consultant, who helped plan the hospital.

The contracting firm of Busboom & Rauh has the contract for a turnkey job on the project with the exception of equipment. Firm officials have stated that if the weather in 1957 is as dry as it was last year, they may complete the job in a year. Their contract calls for 450 days.

Judge Button says he is hopeful that the first patient at the new hospital may be received within fifteen months, if all goes well. This counts building time and time for installation of the specialized equipment so necessary to the modern hospital.

In his remarks, Judge alluded to the new hospital as a "wonderful hospital that we know is going to be a reality instead of just something to think about. I cannot commence to express our appreciation to everyone who has had a part in taking this program this far, and I know that we will have their cooperation in the future. The doctors, the staff, the nurses and board of governors and especially Mr. Nichols, the administrator of the City-County Hospital, have been wonderful in cooperating in every way. Without this wonderful cooperation from everyone we could not be doing this today." The judge also praised the Commissioners Court, the architects and the special consultant.

In his prayer, Rev. Hoy asked for divine blessing "upon a project for our community and the county and for those who will be in need and distress and sick in the future." He thanked God for creating within us the spirit that produces and develops hospital and medicine and the modern ways of alleviating suffering and pain and asked for divine guidance for the staff of this hospital in the years to come.

In his benediction, Rev. Ortendahl thanked God "for this dream that is becoming reality; for all those who have worked so faithfully to make this project a success."

Officials of Busboom & Rauh, the contractors, present, included Paul A. Woods, the manager; John Robinson, engineer, and Harvey Puck, the project superintendent all of Dallas.

Officials of the Wyatt C. Headrick architects firm included Warren Morey, project architect; Grady Miller, public relations; H. M. Hanson, construction engineer; H. J. Lohrman, chief mechanical engineer, and Russell Headrick, project superintendent, all of Dallas.

All of the visiting contractors and architects were introduced by Judge Button.

Members of the Commissioners Court are Judge Button, Glenn Baldwin, Precinct 1; G. G. Bowen, Precinct 2; O. H. Stroup, Precinct 3; and Major Neely, Precinct 4.

Members of the present City-County Hospital Board, headed by Paul Hardin of McKinney, chairman, who were present were also introduced by Judge Button. In addition to Chairman Hardin, the Board includes: John L. Comegys, McKinney; Grover Sheets, Celina; Homer Haggard, Frisco; E. L. Kissinger, Hon. Jewell Abernathy, J. A. Dyer, all of McKinney; Truett Smith, Wylie; Anthony Geer, Anna; Clifford Carpenter, Odell Bilderback and Charles Hooper, all of Farmersville; John Brodhead of Plano and H. L. Shoap of McKinney.

The cost of the hospital—$1,500,000—is being halved by the county and the Federal Government. A bond issue to cover the county's half was voted in October, 1955. However, the bond issue caused no raise in taxes and no raise in rendition.

Capacity of the new hospital will be 100 beds. The new building will be so constructed that this bed capacity can be doubled without additional building space.

Phone Company Pays $18,572 Tax Here For '56

McKinney's telephone system took on a new look during 1956 when all local telephone numbers were changed to two letter - five numeral numbers.

The change last May linked McKinney with the rapidly growing list of cities and towns throughout the United States having a standardized telephone numbering system, A. C. Lewis, the company's manager here, explained.

"With two letter—five numeral telephone numbers, McKinney telephones can be dialed directly, without assistance from an operator, by people in Denison and other cities which have facilities for direct distance dialing. Also, telephone operators in distant cities can dial a local number without calling on a McKinney operator to get the number here," Lewis commented.

The telephone company in 1956 also played a big role in the life of the city as it paid a total of $18,572.93 in local taxes during the year.

"McKinney has a bright outlook for the future. We feel reasonably sure that the telephone system will continue to grow during the coming months," Lewis said.

South Collin Town Votes For Water District

Citizens of Josephine in Southeast Collin County took a long step toward the establishment of their own water distribution system Saturday.

Fifty voters went to the polls to decide on the formation of the Collin County Fresh Water District. Forty-nine favored the proposal, with one voting against.

"I don't know who that one opponent was" said Mayor Warren Rousey "I wish I did, for maybe we could persuade him that this is a project deserving of the 100 per cent support of the people."

The Collin County Fresh Water District is the first of its kind to be organized in this county. Its approval marks the initial step in the efforts of the citizens of Josephine of 350 population (1950 census) to secure a water system.

A bond election will be the next sep, and if it is approved a pipeline will be run from Royse City to Josephine after the bonds are sold. Josephine will buy Lake Lavon water district from Royse City which is a member of the ten-town North Texas Municipal Water District and which is obligated to take more wather from Lake Lavon than is actually needs at present.

Josephine's bond attorneys, McCall, Parkhurst and Crow, Dallas, have estimated that the water distribution system will cost approximately $115,000, according to Mayor Rousey. This is the figure that will probably be set when the bond election is held.

The Paul G. Bentley Co., also of Dallas, is Josephine's engineers for the project.

Five commissioners and a tax assessor-collector also were chosen in Saturday's election, held at the Josephine school with Billy Holmes as election judge. The commissioners are Jimmy Holmes, D. B. Helms, V. L. White, Melvin Thurman and Jack Townsend. The tax assessor-collector is Ed Yates.

THE PEOPLE

Mrs. D. B. Patterson of El Paso sends the following letter to these papers, in an effort to locate a relative. The letter is self-explanatory.

El Paso, Texas

The Courier-Gazette
Mr. L. L. Perkins Editor
McKinney, Texas

Dear Sir:

I am writing you in hopes that you might be able to help me locate a cousin of mine who was living there back in 1917. I understand there was several children and there may be some of them still living there. My cousin was Malisa Hawkins before her marriage, she was married in Dallas, Texas, in 1910, I believe, and went to live in McKinney the home town of the man she married. There was one son whom they called John R. My cousin's husband either had a brother, or some near relatives, who in 1917 ran a Taxi cab and his first name was Lonnie. He was well known in the then small town.

This lady if living is the only one of my family left and I would like to locate her or her children. She is the daughter of my father's brother, John Hawkins who lived in Faxon, Tennessee, and passed away in the late twenties. My father was the late Tom Hawkins of Faxon, Tenn. If you can be instrumental in helping me I will be very grateful to you. I know that the newspaper reaches almost everyone these days and I sincerely hope this will come to the attention of some one who may know of either my cousin or her children. I am the former Bea Agnes Hawkins.

Sincerely,
MRS. D. B. PATTERSON,

To The Daily Courier-Gazette

The Press quotes J. P. Hart, candidate for U.S. Senator as wanting to abolish the Poll-Tax and substitute registration for it.

Louisiana used that pattern several years ago in a state election, and New York Herald investigated it and estimated that 15,000 residents of Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi, mostly negroes, were imported into Louisiana registered and voted. After the election an investigation disclosed 5,200 false registrations in New Orelans alone.

The Kansas City democratic primary in 1946, used the same pattern. And the Grand Jury reported that it found enough illegal votes to change the result of the election. And it indicted the alleged guilty parties and locked up the alleged illegal ballots behind iron doors as evidence. But somebody broke into the Court House and destroyed the ballots and the alleged guilty went free.

So if Texas Poll-tax is abolished, it will be possible for wealthy grafters and criminals of the state to hire 100,000 autoes and trucks to import to deliver to the polls 1,000,000 floating voters and those from other states and Mexico, and elect wicked men and measures and defeat honest men and good measures, and if they control the County Seats and an honest Grand Jury find enough illegal votes to have changed the result cannot they break into the Court Houses and destroy the illegal ballots and prevent prosecution of the criminals, as was done at Kansas City, which defeated the ablest and best congressman of the State because he refuse to swallow all Trumanism. Also to abolish the Poll-Tax would rob the tax fund of $3 million a year, 4-7 of which goes to the schools. The school per capita this year is $74, besides a heavy property tax. If a man has from 1 to 5 children in the school age is it unjust for him to pay $1.75 poll-tax and get in school benefits of from $74, to $370.00? Think it over.

McKinney Tax Payers:

I have met with the City Commission—uninvited—during the last two months, endeavoring to have the City Commission modify their city property evaluation. Results: zero. I appealed to them several times, and find them to be unshaken in their determination to go ahead with the present (Capers) valuation, regardless. The situation, I find regretfully, is not conducive to a successful law suit, and that particular action is suspended. I will explain this in a day or so.

THE HOME TOWNERS
THE GREEN LIGHTS ARE ON IN McKINNEY AND COLLIN COUNTY

▶ YOUR HOME Towners talked to a McKinney citizen recently and he remarked: "I don't like the way things are being run on this project or that." We asked him what suggestions would he have to make to improve it. "I have none, remarked this citizen." I just dont like it. Well, to be brutally frank this type of citizen has never been known to build a community — he is the tearing down sort of CHUMP. We have a few in McKinney but they are scarce.

▶ RECENTLY A friend of Your Home Towners had a heart attack and a neighbor made this remark. Well he worked too much for his church and his community. He was constantly going to meetings and if he had any sense whatsoever he would stayed at home and lived longer. In Your Home Towners way of thinking we would like to be guilty of working for our churches and our community, building for a future generation and when "30" comes to us, we believe there will be a place for us up there because when a citizen is working for the betterment of his churches and community he just becomes a better citizen and Christian and to be called a Christian is the highest name a citizen can be called.

▶ THE VALUE of a progressive school system is clearly shown in Longview, Texas. The past week the Longview Journal published a mere 300 page Industrial Edition, giving to its readers the great growth of that fast-growing East Texas town. Yes, schools played an important part and will continue according to the leaders of that community. They are constantly building and improving one of the most important projects that makes "Industry Come Your Way." We ask you, the citizens of McKinney, have you ever seriously analyzed our school needs. To our neighbors to the North, Sherman—they too are constantly improving and building more schools—this, according to an official of the IBM Company that will build a plant there, as he told Your Home Towners: "When people in a community care and have first-class educational facilities then you have a community that believes in progress.

▶ YOUR HOME Towners asked one of our readers who was a paratrooper in World War II, if our government had given him a second hand parachute, a gun that wasn't dependable, a plane that couldn't be depended upon, then what would he have thought? Well, you know his answer. The same thing can be said about our schools in McKinney and especially the Junior and Senior High. To those that still don't believe in giving to our children today and tomorrow the best in school facilities, "you had better wake up." Yes, there will be that day of reckoning" when you and I will have to be shouldered with the blame of too "little," too "late." Your Home Towners would like to go on record that we should build a school system second to none—yes, its going to take a bond issue—we are going to have to pay MORE TAXES—but don't you think honestly in your hearts that our "children are worth ever bit of it." We think so. Will you shoulder your share of the responsibility?

Famous Pianist To Appear With Dallas Symphony January 11

One Sunday morning not long ago, Claudio Arrau looked in the "funnies" and there framed by a green cat and the tomb of Zeus, saw himself in the famous "Believe It or Not" series.

Beneath what seemed to be a likeness of himself ran the caption: "Claudio Arrau, famous pianist who never forgets anything he has once memorized. If his repetoire were placed end to end, he could give a different program for sixty consecutive evenings."

Actually the repetroire of Arrau who will appear as a Dallas Symphony soloist on Monday, January 14, at State Fair Auditorium, embrace no less than 70 different recital programs and 62 orchestra works.

To begin with, it includes all the piano works of Bach (filling five volumes in the Bach Gesellshaft edition) all the piano works of Bethoven, all the Mozart piano compositions and a vast number of works by practically every composer known to the good music dictionaries form the seventeenth century to the present, making it a sum total of works to stagger even a fancy imagination.

Dallas audiences will have the opportunity of hearing part of the fabulous Arrau repertoire when the Chilean pianist performs Brahm's Concert No. 1 for Piano and Orchestra. Other works on the program to be conduct by Walter Hendl, will be Mozart's Symphony No. 40 and Mennin's Symphony No. 5.

As the first great South American pianist since the immortal Venezuelan Teresa Carreno, Arrau is a formidable phenomenon of the keyboard as evidenced by his 300 appearances with every major orchestra in the country and more than 700 recitals in addition.

Currently in his fifteenth American tour, Arrau's last appearance with the Dallas Symphony was in the 1954-55 season playing four works of Chopin. He previously appeared with the symphony in 1949-50 season playing Bethoven's Emperor Concerto. Before that, he was Antal Dorati's first soloist with the Dallas Symphony in 1954.

Stauffer's Magic Couches Take Effort Out Of Exercise

Pioneer figure-control expert B. H. Stauffer observed years ago that many women failed to achieve a really beautiful figure even after subjecting themselves to drastic reducing methods. Some vital factor was missing. After long study he scientifically proved that the secret to figure control is balanced posture and balanced posture comes about through proper exercise. But he knew most women lack time and facilities for proper exercise and also dislike the intense fatigue which normally follows. So Mr. Stauffer determined to discover a way to take the effort out of exercise. From his intensive work came the motorized Stauffer "magic couches" that makes it possible to secure essential exercise without lifting a finger.

Today, as the very heart of the Stauffer Reducing System, the exercise couches improve posture by gently exercising the entire body. At the same time removing inches from the right places, gently molding the body along graceful, pleasing lines. The Stauffer System "magic couches," coupled with caloric control, has made it possible for millions of women to achieve slim, youthful-looking figures without starvation diet or strenuous exercise — and importantly, with no electricity applied to the body. Unlike less compresive methods that merely take off weight haphazardly and temporarily, Stauffer System offers more than just reducing. It is a complete program of scientific figure control. Among its benefits are the reduction of excess weight as well as inches from ankles, thighs, hips and tummy. The system tones and firms sagging muscles to make skin fit smoothly over the new slender silhouette. Posture is lifted and a more graceful carriage encouraged.

Mrs. Tom Allen and Mrs. C. J. Young, who opened a Stauffer Salon in McKinney last July 16, call attention to an article in the January issue of Harper's Bazaar entitled "Stand Up for Beauty."
ing a figure that's everything you

The article reads, in part, "Having a figure that's everything you want it to be is more than a matter of weight. If your clothes won't hang right, if you're avoiding backless dresses, if your skirts hike up—or slip down—it might be that your posture is something less than perfect. But after years of slumping, just plain will power won't get you back into proper realignment. You need exercise."

"We're not suggesting push-ups" suggests the article, but a very pleasant method called the Stauffer System, to get those complicated vertebrae and pelvic muscles back into line.

A free demonstration and courtesy visit to Stauffer System may be had by telephoning LI 2-4551 the Stauffer salon located at 311 N. Tennessee Street, McKinney.

Christmas Decorations

The seasonal decorations in the school rooms are in most cases done by the students. Occasionally, a mother's handiwork is displayed, and in many cases the teachers have much of the painting, cutting, pasting and hanging.

This seasons decorations were beautifully done. In a seventh grade room in Junior High School, Mrs. Bennie Sanders delighted the students by making them a cube-sugar house. It was put together with pink sugar icing. At the side of the little white house was placed a gum-drop tree giving the landscape a very picturesque effect.

Mrs. Gibson Harris made a candy house for Miss Norma Sporisman's room at West Ward. It afforded much pleasure for students anud teachers of the school.

The J. W. Webb, Fannie Finch, Central, J. L. Greer, and West Ward Schools were decorated with Christmas trees, Santa Claus figures, angels, and all the glitter that goes with making the eyes of a child grow big with excitement and appreciation for the holidays ahead. The Junior High and High School were also places where the seasonal atmosphere prevailed. The High School Sophomores presented a program under the direction of their sponsor, Miss Susie Carlisle. The program consisted of band selections under the baton of George McCoy; High School Chorus under the direction of Mrs. Melba Davenport, and a sing-song led by O. S. Marrs. Baskets of food were brought to the stage from the various home-rooms and after the singing of "White Christmas," they were distributed to various homes in McKinney by the Student Council members.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Carpenter for the holidays were their daughters and families, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Hickam and Deborah, of Navasota, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rogers and children of Garland, Rev. and Mrs. Pat Courtney of DeQueen, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Carpenter and children and Rev. and Mrs. Roy Carpenter of this city.

Lions Win Curtain - Raiser Over Paris For District Win

By NORMAN SCOTT

The McKinney High Lions jumped off to an early lead and then withstood a desperate Paris rally in the final two periods for a 41-39 victory over the Wildcats in a District 6-AAA basketball opener at Caldwell Gym Tuesday night before a large crowd.

Billy Don Mitchell, J. W. Stewart and Johnny Lindsey led a first quarter attack to give the Lions a 11-2 lead at the end of the opening stanza, and in the second period, Mitchell and Stewart again led the way, along with Don Jenkins, to increase their elad to 22-11 at the intermission.

Frank Jackson, the brilliant all-around Wildcat athlete, connected for the Paris five's first field goal of the night with only 1:40 left before half-time. He also sent 7 free tosses through the net to account for all the Wildcat's points in the second quarter. Olen Jordan accounted for their 2 points in the first quarter on charity shots.

Hershel McClain, Jackson, Jordan and Ronnie Kyle, hit for two-pointers as the second half got underway to pull within 3 points of the Lions, but Lindsey scored on a tip-in, Jenkins drove in for another 2-pointer as he took a good pass from Stewart on a fast break and then made good on a free toss as he was fouled on the play. Stewart then connected for a field goal to give the lion a 29-19 margin with 3:45 left in the third.

Jackson found the range again by pumping in two field goals and Campbell and Jordan also hit from the field with Stewart and Mitchell retalating for the Lions to leave the score 33-27 in favor of McKinney five as the third quarter ended.

Mtitchell connected again for the Lions as the fourth got underway and after Herbie Campbell swished the nets for the Wildcats, Stewart made good on 2 free throws to give the Lions a 37-29 bulge with 5:53 left in the game.

At this point, the Wildcats began their desperation attack with Jordan, Campbell and Jackson connected to again pull within 3 points of the Lions. Lindsey cashed in on two charity tosses and Stewart added another field goal, while Jackson managed a free pitch as the Lions increased their margin to 41-35 with 1:58 remaining.

McClain and Jackson tossed in quick 2-pointers to narrow the gap to 41-39 but the Lions gained possession of the ball, with seconds remaining to run out the clock.

Jackson led the scorers for the night wth 20 points while Mitchell with 16, and Stewart with 14 paced the Lions.

The Wildcats tried 66 shots from the field and connected on only 14 for a meager .212 average. A number of their shots were near misses; however, the Lions turned in some tight defensive work, and caused the Wildcats to shoot off-balance most of the night.

The Lions hit 16 in 35 attempts for a respectable .457 average from the field and this meant the difference along with the McKinney quintet's stout defensive play and some good floor that kept the favored Wildcats under pressure.

The defeat was the Wildcats' first of the season after 10 straight wins over non-conference opponents while the win was the Lions' eighth in 10 starts.

Monthly Meeting Of Ministers Association Held

The monthly meeting of the McKinney Ministers Association was held at 8 a. m. Monday at Johnny's cafe with thirteen members present. Rev. Joel Ortendahl, president of the association, presided over the meeting at which time four new members were welcomed into the association—Chaplain James Parks of the Veterans Hospital, Dr. T. R. Leen, pastor of the First Christian Church; Rev. Malcolm Cave, pastor of the Victory Baptist Church and Rev. Hibbard, pastor of Wesley Memorial Methodist Church.

John Barry, pastor of the East Christian Church, and chairman of the Committee on Public Morals led discusions on communications from the District Attorney's office and news publishers. It was agreed that this committee will continue activities with all means that are within the limitations of the law to combat the sale of all undesirable literature in the county, or even beyond the county. It was further agreed that "if the laws do not cover the specific situation involved we are willing to take the time and expend the effort through constructive channels of publicity, organizations, local civic, religious and fraternal groups, and in general, an arroused public opinion, to meet and subdue unsuitable reading matter," according to Chairman Barry.

It wes voted by the association that the new County Hospital chapel would be built along conventional army chapel lines. Chairman Barry stated that the management of the hospital will be officially notified of the action. It was also decided that a request from the association be made to the Hospital Administrators that all patients entering the hospital, have their religious affiliation listed on the office board by their local church, rather than by denomination only. This will prevent overlapping in ministerial calling and help maintain a high standard of ministerial efforts.

Bro. Barry advised the association that the City-County Hospital is re-inforcing the matter of regular visiting hours and requested that all of the ministers comply with these hospital rules, stating that no minister call at any time other than the regular visiting hours, except in cases of extreme emergency, and that all calls on patients be satisfactorily cleared through the nurse in charge.

The report brought out a desire that hospital administrators and local ministers always work together in mutual respect and cooperation. To this suggestion all ministers willingly agreed.

Clifford Goostree Jr., who is majoring in chemistry at NTSC Denton, has returned to his studies after spending the holidays here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Goostree.

Mr. and Mrs. Kermitt Giles, of Dallas, were luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rob McCarley, at Blue Ridge, Sunday. They also visited Mrs. J. Ham Giles and daughters.

Income Tax

Many local farmers and ranchmen can save tax dollars this year by taking advantage of all allowable deductions and other credits.

A new law is of particular importance this year concerning the sale of breeding, dairy or draft animals because of drought. Under certain conditions, the profit for such sale will not be taxed.

New fast depreciation methods can reduce current taxes. And, when you fail to take depreciation, that deduction is gone forever it can not be made up in future years. Reporting the sale of all qualifying livestock as the sale of capital assets, instead of reporting the sale as ordinary income, will sharply lower tax liability.

These subjects and many others are treated in the new "1956 Farmer's Tax Guide" now available at the county agent's office. Arranged for easy finding, it explains how to handle most tax problems that farmers and ranchmen face.

Some farmers have lost money this year and will not owe any taxes. When there is no tax libality some farmers in the part have tended to neglect taking all allowable deductions. This is usually a mistake because losses can now be carried backward for two years and carried forward for as many as 5 years. Sooner or later, these current losses should permit the taxpayer to either get a refund or give him a deduction on future tax bills.

Brucellosis Campaign Changes Become Effective January 1.

Interstate movement of all cattle except steers, sprayed heifers and calves under 8 months old comes under Federal control, starting January 1, 1957, to curb the spread of brucellosis (Bang's disease).

Dr. C. M. Patterson, extension veterinarian, said the new rules as announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and aimed primarily at strengthening and unifying control of interstate movement of cattle relative to brucellosis under the eradication program.

The regulations include: Slaughter catle not known to have brucellosis can be shipped interstate to slaughter plants or to a public stockyard or one approved by the USDA. They must be accompanied by a waybill or similar document signed by the owner or shipper.

Cattle from brucellosis-free herds and areas require only an official certificate. Officially vaccinated animals under 30 months can be shipped with an official certificate except those being shipped into a modified-certified brucellosis free area They must have in addition, a permit from the livestock sanitary official of the State of destination.

Any vehicle, which includes trucks, used to transport reactors must be cleaned under the supervision of a federal or state inspector immediately after the animals have been unloaded. As in the past, eartagged and branded reactors can move to slaughter plants under Federal inspection or federally approved plants and stockyards if they have an official certificate for slaughter.

Beef bulls and females shipped for feeding or grazing can move under official certificate and permit from the State of destination, if that State legally requires segregating and quarantining such cattle.

Interested persons are advised by Dr. Patterson to secure further details or a copy of the regulations from State or Federal livestock sanitary officials.

George R. Smith, principal of the Junior High School, who is married to the former Mary Edna Salmen of Plano, and has two sons Raymond Scott and James Preston, is a school man of whom McKinney should be proud. Learn How To Study.

Knowing the need of so many students for assistance in learning Mrs. Mary Ann Miller and Mrs. Ada Mae Wright, teacher in the McKinney Junior High School have written a most helpful booklet they call "Learn How To Study." This booklet is full of helpful hints and illustrations for those who have difficulty in knowing how to prepare a lesson for learning.

Under the careful guidance of ther elementary c-ordinator, Mrs. Johnny Worden, these teachers have selected the following tips as the best way to study and in turn will lead to learning.

1. Be sure you understand the assignment.
2. Make a note of the assignment.
3. Make use of time in school.
4. Set aside a certain time each day for studying.
5. Select as quiet a place as possible for study.
6. Avoid distraction.
7. Plan the order of studying your subject.
8. Have all materials at hand before you sit down.
9. Go to work immediately.
10. Attack more difficult subjects first.
11. Relax briefly between subjects.
12. Make notes on important points — jot down key words or key sentences— complete all work assigned — Review your notes before class.

Lone Star Gas Co. Report Show Growth Of McKinney In '56

An optimistic outlook for McKinney's continued growth is reflected in a year-end business report by Ramond E. Neal, McKinney district manager for Lone Star Gas Company.

Lone Star added nearly a hundred new customers in McKinney in 1956, bringing the total at December 31 to 4,146 including 3,648 residenttial, 575 commercial and and 23 industrial customers, Neal said. He added, that the company installed 4,000 feet of new street mains during the year, making a total of 45 miles of pipe in the city's distribution system at year's end.

"We anticipate additional growth in 1957" Neal said. "We'll probably add another hundred new customers next year, and are planning to add 5,000 feet of street mains to the McKinney distribution system before the end of 1957. This will be carried out primarily to meet customer growth demand."

Neal pointed out that local growth and adition are typical of overall expansion by Lone Star throughout its operating area. Lone Star added a total of 32,300 new customers to its system in Texas and Oklahoma during 1956, and expects an additional 32,400 in 1957.

The company's underground storage capacity was increased by some 35 billion cubic feet of gas in 1956, bringing the total storage capacity of 51 billion cubic feet. Company officials state that this storage capacity, together with Lone Star's increased supply and gas reserves, puts the company in the best position that it has ever occupied to assure steady and dependable natural gas service to McKinney and the other 451 cities and towns the company serves in Texas and Oklahoma.

AVERT A CATASTROPHE . . .

YOUR SCHOOLS . . . TODAY

(Editor's Note: The past two weeks the full import of the conditions of McKinney's schools has burst upon parents and taxpayers alike. This story is a general recapitulation of what has been pointed out previously in a series of articles which began in these papers in October. Action is imperative—delay cannot be tolerated. The lives of your children are affected. It's your responsibility to avert a catastrophe).

More than 600 students are now using Boyd High School—a school built 40 years ago to accommodate 350 students. It has been pointed out that buildings, as with anything else, wear out under increased use, as well as with age. Years have taken their toll at the high school, and since World War II there has annually been an increase in the number of students, putting a heavier strain each year on the foundation.

With dry weather that has predominated the past five or six years, with the heavier student load, school heads have been aware of the deterioration — walls and staircases cracking, doors that couldn't be closed and floors pulling away from walls.

The rest room situation has been more than unpleasant, with five commodes available for 300 high school boys. There are eight commodes provided for the more than 300 girls. Junior high school facilities are no better. A full-time employee does nothing but attempt to keep the rest rooms, a job that is about as effective as fighting windmills.

Junior high, built in the 1920's, was designed for a student load of 300. There are 480 enrolled, using the same space school officials thought was crowded at 300. It is no wonder that foundations sink under such stress and strain.

Talk to any of the students in Boyd High or Scott Junior High. Each will have a story that will make even the most casual observer sit up and listen and want action.

One will tell about eating in the cafeteria, and of plaster frequently sifting down from the ceiling into the food if anyone walks across the floor above. Another will tell about how his chair, bolted to the floor in the physics class, will pull up the floor unless he sits perfectly quiet. These are just a few illustrations.

School officials and school trustees are asking every citizen in the McKinney Independent School District to visit the schools and inspect the true condition. Many have made the inspection already, but there are many who have not. Those of you who have children in school, or have relatives or friends whose children you are inteersted in — you are the ones who would be affected most if there should be a disaster. Make your inspection today.
